

The Male Voice Choir of the Moscow Synagogue enthralled the audience who turned out on a very wet Sunday evening to attend their performance at Mamlock House.

The 13 strong choir opened their powerful program with "Haveinu Shalom Aleychem", and unaccompanied through out. Their conductor, Alexander Tsaliuk, led them through a well chosen repertoire of Liturgical, Hebrew, Yiddish, and Russian melodies.

Cantor Boris Finkelstein, of St. Petersburg Synagogue, and two young members of the choir, were soloists of the highest caliber and an added bonus was the contribution made by Chazzan Mendel-Felngeld, of Whilefield Synagogue. He was joined for "Ki Lekah Tov", by the choir. The performance had terrific Impact. Organizers of the event were JNF lawyers and accountant committee and compare was Doctor Nicholas Braslavsky.
